Jim Simpson Speeds To Turkey Trot Win

Favorites Fail in Foggy Race, Frosh
Capture All Fowl Prizes

By TED BREEDEN

Darkhorses provided a bright light to the sixth annual Turkey Trot yesterday as a trio of freshmen ran off with the top awards. Jim Simpson, running an inspired race, finished the 3.3 mile run in 15 minutes, 57 seconds, which compared favorably with the record of 15:40 set in 1947 by Merle Knox.

Hawaiian Island import, Norman Bottelo, finished with a burst of speed to nip Al Weber at the tape (crepe paper) as each freshman covered the course in 16:10 and 16:11, respectively. Marion Day and Jim Lund, favorites to win, finished in a dead heat for tenth place.

Homecoming Queen Deloris Peterson, escorted by members of the sponsoring fraternity, Alpha Phi Omega, made the presentation, to the accompaniment of the cheers of enthusiastic supporters and sparkle of camera flash bulbs, of the turkey to winner Simpson. The goose went to runner-up Bottelo and the duck to Weber in the show position.

Adorned in the traditional silk topper and smile, Dean Paul Pitman fired the blast that sent "comets" Woody Linn, Art Allen, Harley Dow, Jack Faulk, and pre-race favorites Marion Day and Jim Lund into action.

The shot sent Lund and Day into running motion, but the footballers took time to shake hands and plan their race strategy before getting under way.

A record breaking number of spectators stared with amazement as Linn, Dow, Allen and Faulk streaked head and head across the finish line, apparent winners of the sixth annual "Fowl Run".

After much deliberation the finish judges disqualified the foursome for not complying with the rules. Infractions of the rules were that the runners started from scratch and scratched all the way, wearing of street shoes, pre-race overconfidence indicating a conspiracy, took a shortcut through a house being moved down Seventh street and receipt of support from cached bicycles.

Boxer Phil Bray broke through the veil of overhanging "soup" to streak home in the staggering time of 27 minutes, 3 seconds, to bring cheers from fellow pugilists and Coach Dee Portal.

For his "supper-lative" performance of finishing last Mr. Bray graciously accepted the can of chicken soup presented to him by Queen Deloris Peterson.

Coaches, Bud Winter and Walt Bealey freely expressed their appreciation of the work turned in by the runners, the Alpha Phi Omega fraternity, committee head Belmont Reid and Turkey Trot chairman Ted Breeden, which culminated in the presentation of the finest of such an event since its inception at San Jose State college.

News Pictures Go on Display

The best news pictures of the year, which were believed lost in the desert between Arizona and San Jose State, have been located in the storage room of the college library.

The 150 news photographs, results of the sixth annual news pictures of the year contest, as judged by the Missouri School of Journalism and the Encyclopedia Britannica, were scheduled to be placed on library exhibit Nov. 15.

A cursory search for the pictures yesterday morning by Dwight Bentel, Journalism department head, and college librarians resulted in the find. The photos go on exhibit today in the corridor of main building.

Last Day for Toys

Today is the last day for Spartans to give "Old Saint Nick" a hand with the filling of the 560 stockings that he will deliver to the International Christmas party at the Montgomery theater, 2 p.m. Saturday. Any gift that will fit into a Christmas stocking may be left at the Spartan Daily office before 3:30 today.

meeting will be held Wednesday afternoon, Nov. 30.

Council Votes Jacket Awards For Lettermen

In a sudden reversal of form San Jose State's Student Council voted yesterday to recommend second varsity award should be a jacket, rather than a gold sweater or trophy.

Last week the council had voted gold trophies to be awarded as second year honors. The original recommendation, made by the coaching staff, was that the award should be a gold sweater.

The "jacket" recommendation will be turned over to the P.E. department for further action. The jackets would cost approximately $12.50 each.

Jim Caputo was appointed business manager for Revelries at yesterday's session. Ray Lyons was named council representative to the Revelries board. The board meets today at 12:30 o'clock in room 159.

A surprise was injected into the routine of council affairs when Dick Russo, sophomore class representative, submitted his resignation which will take effect immediately. Russo stated that he was dropping out of school for the remainder of the quarter.

Russo declared that he would be back in school next year and would like to resume his council duties at that time. He recommended that Lud Spolyar be appointed in the interim. The council accepted Russo's resignation, but threw open the appointment to any student interested. Applications in writing may be turned into the student office.

The first "town meeting" for any and all interested students will be held Thursday, Dec. 9, the council decided. The two main topics to be discussed and "griped about" are new ASB by-laws (alcoholism, etc.) and "Dead Week".

Bob Seal, ASB treasurer, was appointed as a committee of one to look into possibilities for using $33,000 in special council funds as a source for loans to students.

Board to Meet

The executive board of the senior class council will meet this morning at 10:30 o'clock in the Student Union, Belmont Reid, class president, announced yesterday.

IRC Not to Meet

The International Relations club will not hold its regularly-scheduled meeting this afternoon because many members will have already left the campus, according to Dr. George Bruntz, organization adviser.

Dr. Bruntz said that the next

Navy Plane Hits 800 MPH?

United Press Leased Wire

A dispatch from the Navy claims that its needle-nosed plane, the Douglas Skyrocket, has flown at speeds approaching 800 miles an hour. The Navy said the plane repeatedly has exceeded the speed of sound in level flight, and that scientific investigations are being conducted with it between sea level and 40,000 feet.

Groovy Solution is Brewing!

Dear Thrust and Parry
 and ASB 5025:

Yeah man! Man, you sent me when I found out that some other cat was boppin' for a system that would combine the talent on campus. I thought you'd like to know that a groovy solution is in the making. The little clambake I am referring to is the newly organized Talent Placement Bureau. In case you ain't in on the know, the bureau's out to get things jumpin'. That is to say, we are working a filing system that will contain the names of the Spartanlanders who wish to offer their talent.

The sign-ups are coming off in a couple of weeks. And all kinds of talent are welcome. They, the talent that is, can be individual acts or a group act. We want everybody: singers, musicians, mc's, novelty acts, comedians, dancers, or any kind of entertainers within the limit of State.

When this is accomplished, the TPE's file will be at the disposal of any org. in the Spartan camp. Our motto: "If you want a show, let us know." Thanks, man, for bringing this need to the attention of the masses. Yours for "easy to obtain talent," ASB 4885

Communist Party is Still Legal

Dear Thrust and Parry:

The decision of the San Jose Chapter of the American Association of University Professors opposing the report of the association's committee on academic freedom (which recommended that communists should not be excluded from teaching in our universities because of membership in the Communist party), is like a breath of pure fresh air in an atmosphere laden with the fog of corrupted liberalism and intellectual and moral confusion.

We are all for academic freedom, but it should be defined carefully and it should not be prostituted to the designs of the communists and thereby used as a means of making communists secure on the faculties of our colleges.

Any one in this country still has the legal right to be a communist and a member of the party, if he so desires, because the party has not yet been declared illegal under our constitution, but this fact hardly carries with it the right of a communist to be a member of a college faculty.

This nation is founded and operated on the doctrines of democracy, civil liberties, freedom of speech and press, government by parliamentary majorities, distinct and opposing political parties, etc. All these democratic doctrines which constitute the American way of life are held in contempt and denied by the communists whenever they manage to take over a country.

Freedom is killed, and the rigid police state and one-party planned economy and totalitarian regimentation of the whole population follow. Should not our colleges hire teachers who believe in democracy, in the American way of life, rather than those who believe in the communist way of life?

The trouble with many liberals in this country is that they often are fuzzy-minded, soft-headed idealists who have swallowed so much of the communist propaganda as to the evil in our free enterprise system that they will not face the facts of communist life and see the terrible conditions which prevail there,—the shocking brutality of the Russian government toward all political dissenters, the rigid suppression of all freedom of speech and of press, the appalling poverty of the mass of the people as contrasted with the riches of the tight communist bureaucracy which rules, and the millions of persons condemned to slavery and slow death in the forced-labor camps of the Soviet government. These are all facts of communist life in Russia today, proved by overwhelming documentary evidence and eye-witnesses who have escaped from the country.

Yet even today many American communists, when confronted with these facts, with brazen effrontery will deny them all, as "lies and fabrications of the venal capitalist press".

What sort of a mind does a college teacher have who still proclaims himself a communist after the world has seen what thirty years of communism has done to Russia? It must be suffering from an obsession, a fixed idea, that cannot be rooted out. It appears that such a person has indeed lost the capacity for scientific objectivity and freedom of thought. He no longer has an "open mind" the hallmark of a real scientist and teacher. He has committed himself to the doctrines of communism, and these doctrines to him represent the truth. Surely such a person is not a sound and desirable guide and teacher for college students.

What, then, should be the attitude of the students and faculty toward the Communist professor, Dr. Phillips, who wishes to tell us about the injustice done him? It would seem clear that a public institution like this, supported by government funds, should not sponsor him in any way.

That does not mean he does not have the right to speak. He does have under our constitution, but the logical agency to sponsor him is, of course, the Communist party of the United States, of which he is a member. Let it hire a hall for him off the campus and there he can talk to his heart's content. But it is to be hoped that no college organization will have any part in it. It is an old trick of the communists to get some respectable organization, often liberal in its tendencies, to sponsor and arrange a platform for their speakers. Let us not fall into that trap here.

No Sale, Doc . . .

Dear Thrust and Parry:

What thinking person would say that our state is in perfect condition? Yet, who is he who would say that what the "Doctor" prescribes will destroy the evils in society and restore the state to health? There conceivably may be one, but he has yet to speak.

Let the "Doctor" speak. None will buy his panacea. It's simply not a good product.

I regret that some organization did not immediately offer to sponsor Dr. Phillips. Who would have attended his lecture then?

Hya All!

I'm not quite over the excitement of the Fashion show Auction held at Gloria's, 36 South Second St., last Thursday evening. Golly, it sure was lots of fun. I saw so many of you gals over there, and those of you who bought the gowns you did are sure lucky gals. I have never seen such a collection of more beautiful gowns and dresses to be sold at such low prices. How did you feel bidding for them? Wasn't it excitin'? I just got the lowdown on next Friday nite's Fashion show. There were so many requests that Gloria's show their college casuals and date dresses that next week the program will be divided in three groups. First showing casuals and suits, second, dressy date dresses and lastly, formals.

By the way, isn't Wintermist coming up around Dec. 27? If so, now's the time to purchase your new formals, and it's really so much fun to buy them right off the Model's back. Those of you who couldn't attend the last Fashion show Auction should make it a "must" this Friday nite, November 25, and every Thursday Eve thereafter, from 7 p.m. to 9 p.m. This is a very entertaining show and Rig Richards does a bang-up job on it. So, come along and join the fun with Gloria's at 36 South Second Street.

See you Friday nite,

San Franciscan, Faculty Artists Display Works

By PAT ROAN and HELEN DAVIS

Watercolors by Nat Levy, San Francisco commercial artist, have the spotlight in the new exhibit now being held in the Art department. Showing with Mr. Levy's prints are watercolor prints done by outstanding faculty artists.

Mr. Levy, a member of "The 13", an exclusive San Francisco watercolor art group, has won much recognition for his skill in working with this medium.

Exhibit Lacks Depth

Mr. Levy's work shows his skill in technique and brushwork, but on the whole this exhibit lacks depth and the dynamic quality which some watercolorists achieve. The watercolors in it are flat and do not suggest anything but surface pictorialism.

Several of his pictures are better than average. "Glouster" has caught a small fishing village with a glimpse of a bay, and shows craftsmanship in the use of shadows and perspective. "Near Pigeon Point", with the center of interest framed neatly, shows a good use of quiet colors in a lonely seaside road. A picture of the Golden Gate bridge gives the feeling of a cool, clear San Francisco morning, and the ship steaming under the bridge gives a sense of action to an otherwise tranquil scene.

Perhaps, the outstanding watercolor among the faculty exhibit was the abstract seascape done by Mr. J. Theodore Johnson. This work captures the feeling of huge rocks, sand, and sea, all blending together into one expressive whole. Mr. Johnson has done a splendid job in capturing the vivid feeling of the sea in his imaginative use of colors and lines.

Mr. John Mottram's sea picture showed a dynamic use of color, tone and design, in producing the illusive quality of an angry ocean.

Cypress Tree Print Praised

Another outstanding print among the faculty exhibit was Mrs. Gladys Vogelmann's view of cypress trees overlooking the sea. Mr. Robert R. Coleman's modernistic print of a building shows a clever use of abstraction in producing a pleasing design.

Mr. Robert E. Huffman's abstraction of a large cat shows an interesting use of golds and reds with masterful shading.

Neophytes Train for Novice Bouts

Tuesday, Nov. 29, the 13th Annual Novice Boxing Tournament will get under way with more than 80 eager participants vying for the coveted Champ of the Novices. Seating space will be at a premium in this four-night affair and the various organizations will try and outdo each other for the best organized rooting section, the loudest, and the most colorful dressed.

Coach Dee Portal has shown genuine concern over how he can run this all-graduate tourney in the short space of four nights. Even the National Collegiate Boxing tournament never had as many men entered last year. Well, anyway Dee feels that everyone will have a lot of fun, everyone will see a good show, and enough new "finds" will be found for his varsity boxing team of the future. Dee has only one other problem—no one to box. They all shun him and his great State boxing team.

ABOVE RIGHT—Typical scene in the small gym after school. There are so many boys boxing at once, it's unsafe to walk across the mat. Managers work out with their proteges to help them out.

BELOW—Wayne Fontes, assistant boxing coach, explains to Johnny Johnson how to sign up boys for the Novice tourney. SJS Cagers Will Meet All-Veteran USF Team

By GEORGE McDONALD

The San Jose State varsity basketball team opens against the Dons of USF a week from Thanksgiving at the Kezar Pavilion. USF last year won the National Invitational Tournament in Madison Square Garden. The professional-like Kentucky Wildcats and the silky-smooth St. Louis Billikens were just two of the 12 outstanding teams entered.

Captivating the New York fans from the beginning, the Dons rolled over Manhattan college, Utah (on a last second shot by Frank Kuzara). Bowling Green (whom the Spartans play at the Cow Palace on Feb. 3), and finally Loyola of Chicago to win top honors.

Got Rousing Welcome

Members of USF's squad got rousing welcomes when they returned to Frisco. They were privileged to ride in the wind along Market street, and wear new suits to many victory banquets.

Now they get a chance to be the principal target for most of the top-ranking casaba teams up and down the coast.

Captain John Bennington, a 6 ft. 3 in. forward from Hammond, Ind., was the only member of the Don team to graduate. Bennington, who was deadly with a two-handed, over-the-head set shot, will be hard to replace.

Rene Herrerias, 5 ft. 9 in. splinter who made most of the all-star teams on the coast, broke his hand recently during an early Don practice session. Herrerias, playmaker for the Don offense, brought down Spartan gym by taking only three shots during the first half of the Spartan-Don game of last year, and swishing all three. He, too, will be missed by the Green-suited Dons.

But Lots Will Be Back

But back for further action are Don Lofgran, Frank Kuzara, Joe

McNamee, Don Geisen, and Ross Guidice.

Don Lofgran, a graduate of Tech high in Oakland who stretches to 6 ft. 6 in., is the dream boy of the USF team. Easy-going Don was only picked as the outstanding player of the New York tourney. This left out in the cold such men as McCauley, Groza, Share, Gardner, Beard and Otten.

Lofgran suffered a charley-horse last month that may keep him from being at full strength against the Spartans, but he'll still probably be able to toss in a few of his corner shots and tip-ins.

Frank Kuzara, a mid-westerner lured to the "Foggy Hill" by Ed McKeever for his pigskin ability, is back. Another fairly small man, Kuzara was the other guard that started for the Dons. The USF guards play forward positions on defense.

McNamee Controls Boards

Joe McNamee, 6 ft. 5 in., is another experienced hand back for the Dons. "Jumpin' Joe" controls both backboards and excels on tip-ins.

Newell uses McNamee's jack-rabbit ability to good advantage. If the game is tight with only seconds left, Joe leaves the game until a held ball is called. Then Newell substitutes McNamee to jump. This play, coupled with Kuzara's subsequent shot, gave USF its one-point win over Utah.

Halfback Harry Russell plunges for fourth San Jose State touchdown as Spartans shellaced St. Mary's 40-13 for first 1949 major win. Gaels identifiable are R. V. Johnson (45), Dave Marcelli (58), and Dick Rubay (53).

Fresno Bulldogs 'Up' for Spartans

By TED BREEDEN

Being on record as having stated that they had saved all season for their Thanksgiving day struggle with the San Jose State football team, the upset minded Fresno State team, coached by Pix Pearson, is overlooking season records of both teams in pointing to the climactic game of the 1949 season in the CCAA.

Even the loss of sparkling half-back Harry Russell, does not cause much anxiety among Spartan followers as the record of the host team, Fresno State, has been virtually lusterless with only three wins offset by six losses.

All three Fresno wins were registered against virtually weak opponents, while they were suffering defeat at the hands of Loyola, San Diego State, Nevada, Santa Clara, Santa Barbara, and College of Pacific.

The Bulldogs boast a strong defense, with Guard Ken Wagner, 205 pounds, End Chuck Loy, Guard Millard Mitchell and linebacker Nick DeKooslian, however the offense has fallen short of potentialities even with sterling performances by backs Vince Palmo and John Morse.

Seventeen seniors will close their football careers as San Jose Spartans in the Fresno clash, with two members not even in the game in this, their final blow at CCAA opponents. Russell and Fred Mangini will spend their final 60 minutes on the sidelines as a result of injuries.

Going into the final game of the season Spartan quarterback Gene Menges has a record of 79 completed passes out of 146 tosses, which were good for 1184 yards and 14 touchdowns. On this, the eve of their final game, the Spartans lead the nation in scoring with their 414 points, and are determined to remain in that top position.

De Mers spoke on "The Problems of the Juvenile Police Officer," in which he emphasized that the police force should enter into community planning for youth. The functions of his department are prevention and protection. Stress is placed on prevention of delinquency.

He spoke about the California Youth authority and its various divisions and functions and of job opportunities for college graduates in social work.

Purposes and activities of Tri Sigma were explained by Mary Tucker. Mr. Milton B. Rendahl, adviser, told the history of the organization.

Court Discusses Newly-Adopted Constitution Law

The Student Court at its last meeting discussed the newly-adopted by-law to the Associated Student Body constitution which says:

"b) Any student placed in custody by civil or school authorities shall have his case subject to a review by the Student Court. The Court shall decide if the conduct of said person is detrimental to the best interests of the college.

1. Any student found guilty of conduct detrimental to the best interests of the college shall be subject to a fine and/or punishment determined by the Student Court.

In clarification, the Court says that "the purpose of this by-law is to protect students as well as the whole Associated Student Body.

"There are many cases that violate civil laws which are given to the Student Court and are kept out of Civil Courts. This is of definite advantage to the student.

"If no harmful publicity for San Jose State college evolves from a situation, the Student Court does not deem it necessary to handle the case.
